Ivan Petrov. From Incunabula to First Grammars. Contexts of Development of the Bulgarian Literary Language (Late Fifteenth – Early Seventeenth Century). Lodz, Wydawnictwo uniwersytetu Łódzkiego, 2015. 260 p.

The monograph is devoted to external history of the Bulgarian literary language in the early prenational era. The study of old Slavic prints is very important element in the description and interpretation of the processes of the formation of literary languages in the Slavia Orthodoxa area in modern times. Presented here is the evolution of views on the phenomenon New Church Slavonic language. It focuses on the history of the Cyrillic South Slavic paleotypy in Montenegro, Venice, Serbia, Wallachia and others.
