Bulgarian Language Journal 64 (2017), 2, 94-105
ISSN 0005-4283

REVIEWS AND SURVEYS

Stoyan Burov. Investigations into the Grammar of Modern Bulgarian. Tver, 2016. 260 p.

The book reviewed herein introduces high-contribution studies of the grammar of Modern Bulgarian. These offer a detailed investigation of development tendencies in the grammatical order of the Bulgarian language, while juxtaposing said tendencies with those in other Slavonic languages. New and current theoretical formulations by the author are presented that are connected to functional grammar, cognitive linguistics, categorisation theory, and semantic interaction theory. The relationship between functionalism and communicative grammar is analysed, and issues from the field of linguistic pragmatics have been examined.

✉ Chief Assist. Prof. Velin Petrov, PhD
Department of Modern Bulgarian Language
St. Cyril and St. Methodius University of Veliko Tarnovo
2, Th. Tarnovski Str., 5003 Veliko Tarnovo, Bulgaria
v.d.petrov@uni-vt.bg

Published: 30 June 2017